

Did you know?

You can use apprenticeships to upskill and retrain your existing workforce

Apprenticeships

How do they work?

Apprenticeships are jobs which combine practical on-the-job training provided by the employer, with off-the-job learning delivered by a training provider. Apprentices spend 80% of their time in the workplace and 20% undertaking training.

Benefits to your business

- Develop skills that are relevant to your business needs
- Improve productivity
- Expand and upskill your workforce
- Aid staff retention
- Secure the best new talent
- Improve the quality of your service or product

Financial incentives

As an employer, you can get funding from the government to help pay for apprenticeship training. For each newly hired apprentice joining your business, you will receive:

- £2,000 for apprentices aged 16 to 24
- £1,500 for apprentices aged 25+

Our team of advisors can help you decide if apprenticeships are right for your business. We can provide guidance on choosing an apprenticeship training course and finding a training provider.
